Joe Smith

Principal for LYNX Education

An experienced teacher of 28 years, Joe has taught children in the public system, in a high academic private school, and then with Third Schools he taught special needs, home education, and now LYNX nature inspired programming. Joe has experience with leadership, as he spent 18 years as a Principal, or Associate Principal. Throughout each teaching experience Joe used his athletic background to coach most sports and to help children experience outdoor education.

Joe believes that outdoor experiences can have a positive impact on every child. Joe is currently leading the LYNX program and is very excited about the opportunity to make education outdoors, a choice for many families. In his free time, Joe enjoys travelling, camping, hiking, and spending time with his children and grandchildren.
